

Prophecies - The Family Prayer Center - 2013

Prophecy130707 July 7th, 2013

I Search after the, the Searching Heart

I search after the searching heart saith the Spirit of Grace. For those that are hungry for change and desire more and every place that you've grasp, in every place that you've placed stronger grip on in the past to find security has left you with nothing but more want. But I say to you that this what you feel and what you're experiencing even presently is the very answer that your longing for even when you do not know what you're searching for, I am that answer! I am the question and I am the answer says the Spirit of Grace. Turn to me in these hours when you know my presence and feel something that you cannot explain; desire of me and ask more of my visitation not only in this place but that I will follow you home, says the Spirit of the Lord. Know that I am able and willing to dwell in the most chaotic circumstances of until peace comes, until healing comes, until restoration comes, says the Spirit of Grace. I've been explained by well meaning that I'm timid and easily to be scared off, but know this that I am a rock unto you; I am not timid nor have I placed timidity inside of you to fear the things that surround you often, but know that I'm a rock in the middle of the storm for you, says the Spirit of Grace and at your weakest moment when you feel, when you feel that I'm nowhere around remember this that the very atmosphere that you feel presently is there even when you do not feel it. So rejoice in me in the midst of it and you will begin to know and sence it right in the middle of the storm, saith the Spirit of Grace.