

Prophecies - The Family Prayer Center - 2013

Prophecy130901A September 1st 2013
How Much I Love You

That place has never been in question, says the Spirit of Grace. That place that I hold you as an individual Son or Daughter of God has never been in question of how much I love you. Understand this with all your heart or all you're capable of the place and what your going through this morning that I desire you past your faults and your failures. I love you beyond anything that you can do for me, saith the Spirit of Grace. I hold you in the highest regards always. How could I forget He who I have tattooed on the palms of my hands, saith the Spirit of Grace? Oh know that there's not ever been even one that's passed from this life even into eternal judgment that I did not love them all the way to the end and past that place of judgment. Oh that you would understand that my heart reaches out to you further than your heart reaches out to me. I desire you beyond all description of your ability to describe what love is. I desire to raise you up and to give you a hope beyond all hope that you are able to go forth in this life and stand on the other side of your test and trials and victories. There is a hope in me; there is a hope in me, saith the Spirit of Grace.