

Prophecies - The Family Prayer Center - 2013

Prophecy130922B September 22nd 2013

I am Jealous Over You

I am jealous over you says the spirit of the Lord. I am jealous over you; I want you all to myself, but if I have you all to myself then I'll turn you back into the best things of life. My reputation has been sorely, sorely misrepresented. For I have been represented all through the ages by those who only partly knew me; they've said things about me that they could not validate through my word or through relationship. They claimed time and time again that I took, that I took and borrowed and would not repay; they claimed that I would take the best that life has and cheat you out, but I say to you that I came to give you life and life more abundantly. I came that the very best things in life that a man could enjoy family, friends, the blessings of fellowship and all of the things that I would add as comforts; oh that you would taste these things through the sweetness, through the nectar of life that I give for there are many in this world who have all, all of the things they have need of as in provisions in riches but they are miserable; they have nothing; they have nothing of peace, but I say to you I've offer to those who come to know me this is the testimony that I give of myself that I have come that you would have life and life more abundantly. The life that begins in my Son radiates out into every part and you'll find that the best that you can enjoy in this life is given in my spirit and when you fellowship with me I am jealous over you, but I do not hold you; I will release you to have the very best and fellowship with you and all of the things that are off this life richly to enjoy, saith the Spirit of Grace.