

Prophecies - The Family Prayer Center - 2014

Prophecy140105 January 5th 2014

I Love to Come

I come; I come; I love to come. I love to come and manifest myself to you. I love to come in the presence of your worship of me. I love to come and manifest myself to thee. So continue to enter in that worship. Worship wherever you're at. All through the day worship me. Have your heart and your mind and your soul and your will and emotions set on me; For when you choose each day, as you arrive to set yourself upon me I come; I manifest myself in your life. So let all those things that are behind go, forget those things and press in a fresh and anew in me. For I love you so much and I do come; I come and I heal. I come and restore. I come for I have come. I come for I have come. So receive from me just open and receive; come as a child to me, a child comes, a child comes and just receives. So come and receive of me and you will see many things change in your life and others lives as you just let me come and manifest myself in your presence.