

Prophecies - The Family Prayer Center - 2014

Prophecy140525-3 May 25th 2014

Recline in My Love

More and more is going to come on line for many of you, the wisdom of my Spirit, some great questions that have been in front of you. Some large, it appears to you as large concerns, places where it doesn't seem if God doesn't move you have no idea how to get past it. Let me assure you that He is assuring you this morning that his hand is upon you. That's it; He said just recline in my love. As you begin to recline in my love and fall back on him you'll find a grace come upon you. A strength that begins to assure you that you are following the right path. Questions right or left, which way and even when you make certain decisions, you've questioned if they were right. They were right; He is saying that more and more is going to cause you to improve in the soundness of this judgment; so rejoice in me, rejoice in me.