I Built My Church on Love

Hear what the Spirit would say; for everything that I build my church on was love. I desired from the very beginning the very price that I paid for humanity would be propagated into all the world, and by this will all men know that you are my disciples because of your love one towards another. Know this that I'm increasing that love both to you from me but it'll go through you. It will go through you to the nations; it'll go through you to the world. The very miracles that will be seen in the days ahead will not be legalistic; they'll not be through formulas through some fad was taught by fables but they will be through propagation of my love, saith the Spirit of Grace. Hallelujah! So press into that place where love pours into you and then out of you because if you do that you'll have my best, saith the Spirit of Grace.
