

Prophecies - The Family Prayer Center - 2017

Prophecy170108 January 8th 2017 My Spirit Developing Atmosphere

He's saying; this is the year of tremendous inroads. Say not in your heart; I've heard that before, but rather embrace every acclimation of going forward. For miracles are around you present tense. I'll open your eyes and you'll see. You'll see everything that present tense is; it's taking you forward into that which is impossible. I've placed a word in your mouth as a people and I place my word, the word that I gave you to receive revival is from me, but I've given you a more sure word which is my written word. Heaven and earth will pass away but that word will never, never pass. Even in heaven and ages to come annals of glory, you'll discuss the promises that gave you entrance into my Kingdom and held you steady on this earth. Walk faithful in this year. Find that my promises are yea and amen to them who believe, saith the Spirit of Grace. You'll find more and more saturation of My Spirit, developing atmosphere, saith the Spirit of Grace. For atmosphere is the turning, is the turning of the tide; it's the turning of the change, change of table being turned against the flesh and against the strongholds of the enemy and even in heavenly things where spirits of authority hold garrison, great authority illegally over the body of Christ. But you'll find change in this. Lightness, a lighting as in the pressure of things around you begin to lighten up in the atmosphere of the services. For I desire to bring all these things in for the purpose of the harvest, saith the Spirit of Grace. There will be benefit. There will be a benefit to those, even to those who don't pray. Even to those that are very nominal in their walk. For those that will just, even the effort to come and go and be in a place where those who are bringing forth and birthing; Just to sit in that presence will give many a head start and pull them up out of where they're at. Places of giving permission to the flesh and melancholy life, I'll pull many out just by the atmosphere, saith the Spirit of Grace. Pray this in. To all intercessors who have ears to hear this is the bread that I've asked you to pray down. It is the atmosphere of heaven, though you cannot feel it; though you cannot see it; though it does not seem like a reality at times. There is an atmosphere beyond this one, it's electrified with my presence; it has in it hope; It has in it expectancy for miracles. It's the strength that people ride into places and receive miracles. What is it that brings about change? How does that, where does that line, where's that line crossed? You may say in the contemplation of your heart, this is what I've been petitioning you for many, many years to pray down; cause in that electrified atmosphere even the least of believing and believers begin to take upon them self a hope, something changes inside of them. When I said to those, do you believe that I can do this just before I would heal them, do you think that they stood there and answered yes by something that they of them self were able to muster up? They were feeling my presence on my Son, because he stayed in my presence; the atmosphere around him electrified others and brought others into a hope and even into a faith that say's yes, I believe that you can do this. This is what I'm asking you, all of you to pray into existence. It changes a town; it changes a community; it changes a state, even thousands and thousands.