Continual Choice

For many are called, many are called, but few are chosen, saith the Spirit of Grace. The calling was on my part; the choosing was on the part of every individual. For all are called to come and participate in this great supper, saith the Spirit of Grace. But those chosen for those who by their own volition and their own authority, choose to come into this place. I have many, many, many sons and daughters. But not so many that make this choice. Not so many who choose that place of continually going in and choosing to push past the realms of the flesh to a place where I can come and lavish on them everything that I said that I was and would be to them in their life, saith the Spirit of Grace. I cannot worship me in you for me. I cannot do that in you and force you to do that. It must be of your choice and as you choose to go forward in me, as you choose this place, then the baptisms of my love unlock everything that I am, saith the Spirit of Grace. For many are called, all are called, few are chosen. Make yourself chosen, saith the Spirit of Grace. Choose to make yourself chosen. Choose this place. Choose this place of continual choice. You'll find in your journey the baptisms of my love, the baptisms so strong that leaves nothing out; it'll leave nothing out, saith the Spirit of Grace.
