Example of Exuberance

The world is tired of religion. Religion has failed. Much of the church at large has failed. For the service that I desire to put on weekly, present before the world to my body, has long passed and been traded for productions and theatrical presentations that have no power. For did I not say that in the last days they would have a form of godliness but they would deny the power there of. When I spoke of them I was speaking of my church denying the power. When I spoke of denying that denying was as if someone shut the door and would not allow someone to come in and denied them access of presence. For much of my church has shut me out and has denied my access; so therefore what most people see at any given service is the best presentation that man can present to give some kind of homage to a God that is in heaven. I desire to love my people. I desire to come in these last days with a thoroughness of my spirit, an anointing that breaks the yoke, saith the Spirit of Grace. Productions, presentations of the flesh and theatrics will not, it will not bring forth the last day revival. But I'm asking you to fall on your knees and your face in these last days and call on me. What does it matter, saith the Spirit of Grace whether this is popular or not? Do you not know that your For-fathers in the spirit and those who wrote the pages of my word were not popular in their generation? This is a time to seek my face. This is a time to be peculiar; for I use that word to identify those who would go after me and people would look at them. I'm not saying become odd and strange and weird as in trying to make yourself something of a spectacle. But the life that you live above sin and the life that you live in the power of my spirit I have provided that you walk as another species in the earth, saith the Spirit of Grace; that men may wonder. They cannot see me. Men say Christ is here. I am in heaven, saith the Spirit of Grace seated at the right hand of the throne, being the son of the most high. I have nobody on earth except that which is yours. When men marvel they cannot marvel at me except they marvel at you first, watching your works that glorify me, saith the Spirit of Grace; and think not to yourself to say do not follow me as an example. That's exactly why I have seated you in the earth all of you that call yourself mine; I have set you in the earth as an ensign as an example. If you're not an example I have no example in the earth. Be unto all an example of righteousness; be unto all an example of exuberance in me; following me in power, saith the Spirit of Grace.
