

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2006

Prophecy060405 – Apr 5, 2006 I Am Placing a High Tower Inside of You

In that exhortation in tongues, the Spirit of the Lord was saying, the more and more that you are able to turn your spirit over, He said a lot of our bodies are going to take on that rest. It is going to be transferred from our spirit into our bodies.

He is really wanting to speak specifically—He said there are things in your body that have been resistant because of areas of fear and torment, things that have lain dormant. But know this, that more and more of you are learning that place of freedom. And as you exercise your right on a daily basis—I just saw a picture, like a transfer of an account, like somebody actually opening a teller's drawer and taking money out of that teller's drawer and transferring it over someplace else. And the picture was one in this: The Lord said, I am going to transfer things out of your new nature. The wealth of that peace that many of you are beginning to walk in will spill over into your bodies. It will begin to emanate from your spirit man. It will come through the gate of the spirit and spill over into the body. And many things that have been resident things for months and even years will turn up missing, says the Spirit of God. They will be missing in action.

Some of you will not realize, and you would think, “As it is now, I will know the moment this leaves.” But the reason you will not know when it leaves is because you will be so baptized in My peace that you will be more concerned about the peace that is in your spirit than the pain that was in your body. And you will come to recognize that the pain is gone from your body, says the Spirit of Grace.

He's saying that as a result of tonight, your eyes will be opened. Oh, many, many of you will begin to see with a new vision and distinguish with a new light of My Presence, says the Spirit of Grace, for you will be able to distinguish. And do not take the care, the care that was taken in the past, for this is a new day, says the Spirit of Grace. For I am judging you now not on what once was but on your obedience to the call now. For now are your eyes being washed with clear water because of grace, not polluted water—that which comes from the mind or the soul that cannot distinguish and does often judge amiss, or favoritism on your part or on the part of others in wrongful ways. But know that the judgment that comes from Heaven will come of pure hearts and sound minds, and there is no variableness in it. There is no hypocrisy in it, but it is pure, undefiled wisdom from Heaven.

So know this, says the Spirit of Grace, that in these days and in the days ahead, you are walking into a new place in My Presence. And in My Presence of fellowship, you will begin to distinguish—you will see the enemy of your soul coming—way before he gets to you.

Know that I am placing a high tower inside of you tonight. Way before the enemy gets to where you are at, you will see him coming down the road. Things that you accepted before, you will have the strength in My Spirit to say no. The gate is not opened. The door is shut.

Know that many of you were of a pure heart, and you did not accept these things because you desired to go amiss, but [because] you could not see. But when you said, "I can see" and could not, you were blind. But now that I have come, and you do receive My grace, you will see. And when you say you see, surely you will. And you will behold the enemy, and you will distinguish what is truth and what is not. You will distinguish what is Me coming to lay My burden upon you, which I remind you again: My yoke is easy, and My burden is light, says the Spirit of Grace.

Those things that have in times before hidden themselves in darkness and distinguished themselves as responsibilities, you will see. And you will walk free from these things. And the enemy, who once found a place to hide, no longer can find any place and now knows, his day and his hour has been cut off, says the Spirit of Grace.