Prophecy060430 – Apr 30, 2006 Recognize the Timing and the Season

Recognize in the Spirit the ground, the place that you stand. Know the host that I send and those accompanying spirits, when they come and are coming, the mandate they are receiving from Me that I am receiving from you is to receive more. So drink these things in and know that in all of this and in every feeling there is also more to come.

So these are they whom have been sent, and the atmosphere is set. Oh, not just for this moment in time, but way beyond these moments and these walls and these seasons. Know that these are the beginning of those days often prayed and longed for, yet not seen in days gone by. Know that all those who drink of this water will be refreshed and will have the strength to go into the next secret place that I have for them, says the Spirit of Grace. So recognize the timing and recognize the season, and all those who fill themselves full in these times will only be empowered to drink more and drink often, says the Spirit of Grace.
