Prophecy060730bJM –Jul 30, 2006 I Have Initiated a Process of Expansion

As My heart is glad, so let your heart be glad, knowing this, that I have initiated the process of expansion. For that which you have labored to establish in this region is being expanded to influence other regions.

In my heart, it appears to be this: It says, if a spring is here, but not a spring of water but a spring of molten gold, and it springs up from this region and like lava flows, it just moves—nothing can withstand. Nothing can detour. Nothing can cause it to go another way—it just flows. And where it flows, everything changes.

Now, Pastor, this is toward you: You have synced your voice, made your voice flow in harmony with the heart of God, and because of this, this process of expansion which He has initiated pertains to your voice. The anointing that He has caused to rest upon you is needed, and so expansion has been called for. And your voice will roam, it will flow, in fact it will run. In regions wherein you physically will never even visit, your influence will be known. For the heart of God through the voice, through the voice of man is heard.

For those in the flock of the local body: Do not resist or despise the expansion. For your shepherd is not being taken from you, he is simply being called to mend the brokenhearted of other places, but always he will return. So do not hold too tightly, but rejoice in the fact that the Father has one whom He can call upon and send. So release him. Release him in your heart. Encourage and empower, for the further he runs, the more blessed you become. For the harmony that has been secured is a collective harmony. It is a representative harmony. It is a harmony that has been established in the body, not in just a man.
