Prophecy061022LA – Oct 22, 2006 The Power to Empower

We were in the midst of worship a minute ago, and I moved into a place of intercession, and the Spirit of the Lord said: The foundation of this house has been laid, and I am ready to build. Then the Spirit of the Lord showed me the mantle of Zerubbabel coming on this congregation.

Upon you first, Bronc, that's the mantle of governorship that though your hands will not touch the administration and the government, the anointing will rest upon you from this day forward. And I give you the power to empower, says the Spirit of Grace. For as I build, I will walk, and then I will run, and this mantle is coming upon you.

I will bring those, and you will set that mantle upon them so they can keep up with what I am about to do. When the gates open, I will only walk for a season, says the Spirit of Grace, and then I will run. And this anointing will empower those to walk first and then to run in harmony with Me, says the Spirit of Grace. For I will do all things in perfect harmony, as the birthing of the miraculous will only be a very short season before this entire state, says the Spirit of Grace, knows of this place and what has been birthing here.

For I say again: The foundation of this house has been laid, and now I set that mantle of governorship upon you, and you will set it upon those whom I will show you, says the Spirit of Grace. Just as Moses took His Spirit and placed it upon the elders, what I place upon you this day, you will place it upon those that you may walk, and then you may run, not just in the place of administration, but I will assemble worshippers and priesthood that will carry the multitudes into the corporate glory, says the Spirit of the Lord. And all things that will be entailed in this birthing, this mantle of governorship will cause all things to operate in harmony. It's not by our might, it's not by our power but by His Spirit, and that which is most important: that foundation has been laid.

I would like Candy and Bronc to stand up here for a minute. When I sat down, when I first came in here, I felt a very powerful Presence walk by me when I was sitting in this chair. It walked by me twice, and I kept looking—you know how you feel when somebody walks by you? But there was a Presence that walked by, and then the Lord began to minister this: He is going to set this upon both of you, and the way it will work is you will set it upon others as things begin to move, and automatically, they will flourish in their calling and a place of harmony for the administration of all things.

But your place always, as you know, is with Me, says the Spirit of Grace. But this mantle will do exceedingly great things. And this day, I set this upon you in this place and before this congregation that they may know where I have brought you in the Spirit and where you are going. And I tell you again: This state will know. And the surrounding areas, they will know in a very short season, for I will advertise it in the hands of angels.

Prepare to carry the weight of the miraculous. It will flow, says the Spirit of Grace, like great water. I will bring them from near and far, and nothing shall be too difficult for Me, says the Spirit of Grace, for a river of revival, you see.

Father, in the Name of Jesus, according to your Word, set the mantle of Zerubbabel upon them that they may govern the work in peace and in perfect harmony.
