

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2006

Prophecy061024 – Oct 24, 2006

Allow Me to Daily Load You With Benefits

Do not fear, little ones, for that which I have begun, I will complete unto a perfect day, says the Spirit of Grace. So when these things trickle from just a fluttery kind of passing by at times, know that the reality that I have begun these things that it is a certainty, as sure as My blood is My blood, and My Name is My Name, and My Word is My Word—and heaven and earth will pass, but My Word cannot. Know that surely as real as those things are, as surely as real as they are is the reality and sureness of the liberty wherewith I have begun these good words in you, says the Spirit of Grace.

No more could those things pass than these things which I have begun in you pass from you if you will allow Me to daily load you with My benefits. I will take that which I have begun, and I will build on it until you run like a mighty man of war and like a mighty woman of war. You will run, and you will not be weary, says the Spirit of Grace. You will know it began in this hour. You will know it began in this hour.

I will put swift feet under you, says the Lord, and that which you have loathed and that which you have hated, that of which you have said, “So much time has passed, and I cannot catch up,” you will find that you have caught up head and shoulders with the rest of those who have been running in front of you. You will catch up because this is the empowerment of Heaven. This is the daily loading of benefits, says the Spirit of Grace, that has come upon you tonight.

Watch the condemnation start to dissipate. You will not even know where it went if you will follow this out. Some of you thought you missed your boat. You will find through what you have been receiving, you thought you were on the shore watching it sail away, but you will find yourself on the forward deck looking into everything that God has for you.