

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2007

Prophecy070415 – Apr 15, 2007 In Me All Things Are Settled

Know this, says the Spirit of Grace, I know the plans that I have for you. It is a goodly plan with an expected end. So know that no matter what the enemy has come with in recent days to convince you otherwise, you will find if you will continue to do the things that you know to do that are right, as in following Me and believing Me that I am able. Then you will find more than a treasure at the end of the rainbow. You will find that I am there at the end and in the middle of this test. So if you will let Me walk you through this, you will find that the grace will increase, and before you ever come to the end, you will begin to believe that it is all said and done—it's all over, completed, and finished. For indeed, in Me all things are settled, says the Spirit of Grace.

There is nothing that the enemy has so designed that I did not already provide two thousand years ago in My Son, the access for you presently to stand even before you saw the answer and believe with a Godly hope that all these things were yours personally—not just for the masses but for you personally as an individual.

He said for you to know these things have been given to you, and they are faithful and true. If you will believe them, I'll come, and I will be to you what I have promised in My Word, that I am in all things.

Now that came from the Commander in Chief—the Lord of the Church, Jesus Himself.