

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2007

Prophecy071205 – Dec 5, 2007 I Am Much More Than an Oasis

Many grow weary often in well doing, primarily because they do not understand what has been provided for them. For if you would understand the place of authority that has been provided and what I have given you to drink from and to eat from, there would never be an occasion by which the weariness that the enemy is trying to bring would overcome the rest which I am always providing, says the Spirit of Grace.

For I am more, I am much more than an oasis. For to believe that there are places just to come and drink and to then again go back out into the wilderness would not see Me in the light by which I exist. Know this: What I have created for you is a habitation that you could go live in, come and go in, and whatever he [the enemy] brought, he'd have to come through that habitation to get to you. And as long as you stay in the place where I can renew your strength, know this, that the one who will get weary in his doing will be the enemy, and he will turn and go another way, says the Spirit of Grace.

Listening to him [the enemy] is like listening to yourself. And you've oftentimes [have] not turned him off like you could a switch on a radio or television because you've accepted his invocations and his counsel, because you thought that you were thinking it through. But know that I gave you an inner witness.

I gave you an inner witness that overrides even the thoughts of the mind and the imaginations of the heart, and you were supposed to monitor all things by the inner witness. So know this, that anything that you contemplate that begins to pull you down and begins to pull you away and causes you to be even more and more self-inspecting to where your strength is derived from yourself and not of Me, know this, says the Spirit of Grace, it is not coming from Me, but it is coming from a counsel of the world. But if you will listen to Me, if you will listen to Me, know that I am One who renews your strength like the eagle, says the Spirit of Grace.

He has something in His heart—mainly, you not being able to catch, a lot of the time, the inner workings of the enemy. Because he integrates his thoughts with a lot of your own thinking, and sometimes he'll introduce it right in the beginning of a trial. He's wanting you to accept a place less than a place of authority over him by examining a lot of the facts and a lot of old-hat weaknesses. So God is saying He has given you an inner witness, and that's the thing you are supposed to go by. You're not even supposed to go by—the highest order is not your own thinking. The highest order is: What is peace telling you?

So go get in the Word and think right. I will even reintroduce Scripture to you, says the Spirit of Grace. For when you are renewed in the spirit of your mind, and your mind is renewed in the disposition of Me coming and anointing you, and you are able to see all things through Me, then are you best qualified for My Spirit to teach you My understanding. For My understanding will come with peace, and it will come with authority. And know this, that I am always telling you who you are in Me. I am not repeating what he is saying to you. I am repeating to you the things that My Word says that I say you are, says the Spirit of Grace.