

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2007

Prophecy071231a – Dec 31, 2007 The Reign of My Presence Is Surely Coming

Expect the great kind of faith, a move of My Spirit, for I will come. I will come in this year with waves of My glory to saturate you time and time again. A common place will be the place where you find the saturation of My Presence. Like the prophet saw the cloud the size of a man's hand and knew that the rain was coming, know that you will see these things, and you will see them and watch them increase. And know that the reign of My Presence and the revival that you've asked for is surely coming. Know that it will come in waves. It will come for seasons, and one season will give itself over to another one, and as you bathe in one, you will find that there will be a short intermission, and that will only be while I am allowing those things to begin to just saturate you and take up permanency inside of you. And the endowment of everything that every wave in this year brings, receive it because it is preparing you.

You will see the cloud when others can't see. When you are looking up, and you are seeing things change in the Spirit realm, you will begin to see things change outside the walls of the church. Expect the unexpected, says the Spirit of Grace. Watch unusual things in parking lots and in shopping malls and in work places and in casual business conversations. Do not think it strange when I fall in the midst of two or three having a conversation, and all of a sudden My compassion falls on you and a weeping comes on you, and those around you will not think it's strange. Although they will not understand it, they will be caught up in it as well. Know this: The cloud is surely growing until it will manifest itself mightily in the earth, says the Spirit of Grace.

These things are not based on a calendar date. They are not an appointment only in time, but know that the cup of many years of prayer and many seeking times, by many who have sought Me in days of old and those who have sought Me in this place [has] brought these things to pass, says the Spirit of Grace. The foundation is set, and now the walls and ceilings and floors and garnishings will be placed. The furnishings will be placed in the midst.

Know that other good places where I am able to fellowship with My people will come and receive from you. They will even receive from your doctrine and the things that you have learned as soundness of mind and soundness of word, things that you will be able to give them, what they need to establish them on their good journey, says the Spirit of Grace.

So take joy. Take joy in that which you know and that which you understand. Freely you have received, freely you will be able to give in the days ahead, says the Spirit of Grace.

