Prophecy080914 – Sep 14, 2008 Your Father Is Enthroned in Your Worship

These things are real acceptable, and they are beneficial to go on. I want to elaborate in the Spirit on what He is saying.

Oftentimes, many have taught, I think myself included, the benefits of the worship limb that it brought a place of “atmosphere.” The benefit was to the believer, and even to the extent that the teaching itself at times rendered the thought process that the major benefit was on the line of the believer.

The major thing that took place was for the believer, and these things are true—in and of themselves not to dismiss this. Understand, says the Spirit of Grace, that equally, when you worship your Father in that realm where He lives, there is a joy that you bring Him at this time—no other time in the dispensations to come. You will always bring Him joy, but this time, against all pressure and against all odds, the joy that He receives is of and equally proportionate and beyond because there is no restraint in that place where He is.

So His joy receiving your worship interprets over into the Presence that you call the fullness and those things that you enjoy from Him. So know that when you worship Him out of spirit and out of truth that not only are you benefiting but Heaven—your very Father is benefiting in this sense of the word, that He absolutely is enthroned in your worship and loves the very words of adoration that you speak to Him out of a pure and contrite heart, says the Spirit of Grace.
