Prophecy080928 – Sep 28, 2008 I Call You Friend

There was a point even before the institution of the fullness of everything that I was to bring in the new nature in My disciples that I told them, I said this to them as I say it unto you: Henceforth, I call you no more servants, but I call you friend. For the friend is higher than the servant in that he knows—he knows the secret desires of his lord and master. So know this: I call you friend.

You call Me Lord, but I call you friend. For I desire to lavish on you in these days in the inner sanctums of your spirit all that you will need for the days presently at hand. I desire to become to you everything that you desire that I would be unto you and to speak plainly to you—to speak to you concerning the questions of your heart and the questions of your mind and to the very inner workings of your soul at times that have been troubled against the hour which you live. Know this, that in that place of friendship that there is nothing left undone.

There is nothing left unacquainted with by My Spirit and know that the fruit of that is perfect peace, My love that casts out all fear, says the Spirit of Grace. And oh, what triumph! Oh, what victory! Oh, what bliss! And oh, what joy! Oh, what wonderful fellowship and hospitality one towards another, says the Spirit of Grace. For he who is healed is healed all. And he who is healed is every wit whole on the inside, therefore, there is no searching for that which is of a necessity, for your sufficiency is of Me, says the Spirit of Grace. Find that sufficiency and know that it will lavish that love on all the other parts of the body.

Hear what the Spirit of the Lord would say, for over not one but many of your homes has been trouble in the night. Know this, that I am breathing upon, I am breathing upon your homes. The trouble is going away, says the Spirit of Grace. There will be rest in the middle of the night. There will be a refreshing that comes in the morning, says the Spirit of Grace.

The devils that have come to fight you in the midnight hour to wake you up or to keep you restless, know this, that I am breathing upon all those who will receive this by faith now. My glory will be seen in My house and among My people, and you will testify, “There is something different come to my home,” says the Spirit of Grace.

Behold, come, let us reason together, says the Spirit of Grace. What think ye? Do you think the ones whom you have committed unto Me, the ones who are in the inner sanctum of your life, the close ones of your children, and the closest that you are standing for in this life—brother, sister, mother, father, those of your household—what reason ye? What think ye? Do you think it is possible to commit them to Me against the day of their salvation, and then for it to work out that somehow I lose them, and they spend eternity in judgment?

Know this: To all those who have lifted up loved ones and put them before Me and walked away, know this of a certainty, it would be easier for heaven and earth to pass away then for these to perish out of My hands, says the Spirit of Grace. For know this, you have this certainty that if you commit them unto Me and give that faith unto Me that I need, know that no matter what you see in this life, you will run into them in the gates of glory, says the Spirit of Grace.

Look ever grateful for those days, for one will come from the east and one from the west when you sit down in your Father's Kingdom to eat of that supper, and you will look across and say, "How, how did you get here when you were such a torrent on this earth?" And then the story will come, something that you didn't know on this earth, how I worked a work behind the scenes. Many will be in the last closing hours; many will be right before those closing days of their life or before the trumpet sounds, but know this: one by one, one by one, they will tell their story, and you will shine with the brightness of your Father in that city, knowing that I provided. I provided through My own counsel the way to get every single one of them there, says the Spirit of Grace.
