

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2009

Prophecy090208 – Feb 8, 2009 I Am Your Safeguard

Hear what the Spirit of the Lord would say to all My sons and to all My daughters whom I speak prophetically to this morning, for it is My desire to use you exceedingly, abundantly above all that you could ask or think or presently even know, says the Spirit of Grace. But I will reveal to you even in this life the things that you will be responsible in changing, and I will show you the reward, and you will eat of the fruit of it even before eternity, says the Spirit of Grace.

But know this, for this is My desire for you to know, that even as I said in My Word, the husbandman who labors in these things would be the first to partake thereof, says the Spirit of Grace. For you to understand this is vitally important for Me as a Father to convey to you. For it is not My desire that you labor so long and so hard in the days ahead that any of you are burnt out, depleted of strength, so destroyed by the enemy that you feel discarded or alone, abandoned or without strength.

Know this, that those who step into this ministry that the first order of the day on My agenda is to replenish you and to refuel you and to come and to give you the fruit of that by which you labor in to give to others, says the Spirit of Grace, that you yourself always be replenished. For the world spoke through the Church and the enemy spoke through many of My messengers through familiar spirits and said, “Caution, caution, for all those who labor in intercession might someday be destroyed by the enemy,” and [this] brought forth an unhealthy kind of reverence and fear. But understand this, that I will teach you and cause you to understand that I am your Safeguard, and there is no fear in Me. Only those who lend themselves to Me in the authority will also understand through fellowship how safe your ministry is in My Spirit, says the Spirit of Grace.

For those who labor long and hard will also be replenished diligently by My Spirit, says the Spirit of Grace. There will never be a moment that you will feel abandoned. There will never be a moment that you feel depleted of strength and ability to know and to understand, and all those things that you say to others and pray for others will come on you, says the Spirit of Grace. It will come on you.