Prophecy090211b – Feb 11, 2009 Do Not Wait

Truly these are My words, says the Spirit of the Lord. For the understanding of the old to understand the new was this, that when I sent My spies into the land of promise, that which they brought back—a great store of grapes and report of the fatness and the fruitfulness of the land—understand this: the land was to be possessed.

I introduced that land to them with a vision of what was in front of them, and understand that even now before the great revival, that you continue to call upon Me with confessions and with worship and which is coming before that revival. Know this, that on a continued basis, on a practical basis, here some, there some, a little and a lot, you will find yourself if you look to Me. If you go inward in crowded places, if you go inward in your faith and listen, you will find that I begin to speak to you and open to you opportunity so that the miraculous begins to flow and so that your words lead up to an introduction to the miraculous.

Do not wait. Do not wait, says the Lord. Do not wait until the complete cascade of glory comes to begin to believe that you are capable of practicing these very things. Begin to move now as I train you from house to house and from place to place, and you will find that I give you assignment, and you are well able to compete those assignments, says the Lord.

Many are concerned about the inconvenience: “Will this delay what I am supposed to be doing in the natural?” Know this, says the Lord, I am the God who is out of time—timeless in origin. I made time for this part of eternity, but know this, that I am also the One who holds all time.

To anyone who gives Me their time in obedience, nothing, I say to you, nothing will be lost in the natural by which you must participate when you give Me that moment in time, which may seem for the moment as an inconvenience. Stop when I tell you to stop. Listen when I tell you to listen. This will not be perfected overnight, says the Spirit of Grace. You will feel yourself at times having missed the mark—do not be condemned, simply come under My blood and be freed and continue to go on. No matter how many times that you miss the mark, do not become a slave to the sense of failure but continue to go forward, expecting to be taught and trained in the classroom of the Holy Spirit.

But I say unto you again, do not wait for the cascade of the things that you affectionately speak about concerning the greatness of My power. Rest now and know that in the moments that are inconvenient, many of you will be in places and in times where you will speak up, and you will speak up not just verbally, but you will speak up in respect to those who have seniority over you or to those to whom you think may have seniority over you. Begin to be bold in My Spirit, for I will prepare the hearts of many men and many women to receive your words, for they are waiting on your words. They are waiting for someone to give them the words of hope, says the Spirit of Grace.
