Prophecy090304b – Mar 4, 2009 More of Me

Understand this, says the Spirit of the Lord. Usually when a war like this is fought, most do not understand: when things begin to seem to dry up on one side, there is on the other side a place offered to you of imperishable peace and truth. It is upon this line that the enemy fights and tries to dry up everything around you to get you to believe the things that you see and hear and feel, but know this, that on the other side of these things is what you are asking Me for.

What you are asking Me for is more of My love, more of My peace, and more of My Presence on you continually, says the Spirit of Grace. So pay no or little attention to your atmosphere, but know this, your atmosphere is subject to change, moment by moment, as I invade your world, says the Spirit of Grace.

For this is as I said a great ordination time for the intercessors and those who will take up My cause and pray for My Body and pray for the ushering in of the things that I desire to do. For surely I have set you as watchmen on the wall, both male and female, to stand up for what is right in the Spirit and let nothing go amiss. For it is you and through your authority that I come and ask of you that I could glean from your prayers and the offering of praise that you lift up in the hard times, but I will cause your authority to be the thing that I run with in the Church and cover the little ones, so that none is lost and so that the vision stays intact until the end, says the Spirit of Grace.
