

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2009

Prophecy090408 – Apr 8, 2009 A Place of Stretching

What is it that you define as a service? What is it that makes up the place where you gather? Know this, that I am pleased with your progression. I am pleased with what you've not surrounded Me with in the perimeter of religion. But if you will allow Me, I will stretch you past the places that you know presently, into pleasant surroundings that you know not of. Let Me redefine what a service in My Presence is supposed to look like. Let Me take you to unusual and particular kinds of things that will be peculiar on the onset but will be in the aftermath so fruitful in peace and in blessings and provision for all of the body.

So know this, those of you who run out in front and worship Me in spirit and in truth and act as a guide or a pilot for those who will come and watch, know this, that it is in these services and many more like them that I desire to stretch you and redefine in you—offer up to Me the definition of what is inside of you of what a service is supposed to be like, because I desire to take you to places where you will not even recognize what you used to think and observe to be a service in My Presence, says the Spirit of Grace.