Prophecy090412a – Apr 12, 2009 The Foundation Is Sure—Perfect Holiness

When I birthed through My Son's blood, My full intent was this: to bring about the Body, the same Body that is present today on planet Earth, which was the seed sown by the first resurrection. Know this, that truly, always the cornerstone will be the hope in this resurrection, says the Spirit of Grace. But when I planted this seed, I expected it to grow. But know this, that too much of My Church has camped at the beginning place and not moved on. For I meant that to be the cornerstone of rejoicing whereby My Church could be built, line on line, precept upon precept. For My pleasure is in this, that My people all over the planet are celebrating an occasion by which I set this in order.

Oh, but know this, says the Spirit of Grace, that if you will go on from this place—not camp just here—this was the beginning. For I added to it the power of My Holy Spirit, whereby My Church was to be built, says the Spirit of Grace, and line on line I would add to it the power by which the apostles walked in. For once again, I desire to visit My Church. For heralded has been the resurrection, and of great, great reward there will be for those who just camp and stay on that place—born-again souls into the Kingdom of God. But know this, that was the beginning, and that was supposed to be the launching pad whereby men were to look at the power in your life portrayed by the power of that resurrection, says the Spirit of Grace.

So rejoice in Me today, knowing this, that in these last times, the blind will see, and the lame will walk, and the deaf will hear, and the dumb will speak again, and the maimed will be made whole, and all the works whereby I began My Church, once lost by religion. And those who were well, well acquainted with sitting, Sunday after Sunday, in padded pews and listening to only the foundation—know this: The foundation is sure, now go on to perfect holiness in the sight of your King, says the Spirit of Grace.
