

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2009

Prophecy090705b – Jul 5, 2009 Abundance of Grace

Behold I show you a great thing: My mysteries are always before you. And even to those who have not yet found their way in the process of building the mysteries within themselves, the place of habitation that is in this house, the Word that I speak will bring inevitable paths to pass for your life.

Behold these things dear, and ponder these things in your heart which I speak to you personally, as a man, as a woman, as an individual. Even at times when your heart rebels, and your flesh fights you and wars, know this: I do not come with the hand of condemnation but with the hand stretched out to raise you up in the day of adversity. So listen and hear what the Spirit would have to say: Great peace have they that love Thy law and nothing shall offend them.

I desire to bring you higher than the places of this world are offering to you as an individual, stumbling blocks. Oh, that My peace that passes all understanding will invade your spirit, not as you think, but as I will. For I do not hold you in contempt of court in your weaknesses, for I have supplied the abundance of grace through My Comforter to bring you higher and higher, says the Spirit of Grace.

So everything that you hear by Me, that which you embrace even to the least of My precepts and of My understanding will bring you ever closer to liberty, and light inside of you will spring forth into great reservoirs of peace and joy, says the Spirit of Grace.