

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2010

Prophecy100110-January 10th, 2010
Seek My Love

For many speak of Me as a complex God, know this I can go to any end to bring you back. But know this that if you want the best that life has to offer and if you want to simplify things and boil it down to one thought know this that if you will seek Me and seek My love and allow My love to you to begin to fill you up in this season of your life, if this becomes the ambition, if this becomes the sight before you as the apple of your eye, the only thing that you can imagine and a desperation. If your heart finds a place of desperation in Me saith the Spirit of Grace then know this that I will put walls about you. I will put in garrison about your mind such a strength that you will know this that there was nothing that could possibly, possibly bring fear, torment or despair to you because you rose up above it and didn't know how in and of yourself but the desperation to know Me brought you forth saith the Spirit of Grace. Hallelujah! Hallelujah Jesus! Yes Lord, Hallelujah!