

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2010

Prophecy100523a – May 23, 2010 You Cannot Change Yourself

Know this, that when a standard of excellence of My Word saturated to the ears of the hearer and an awareness of a desire by the Spirit to bring you higher, and when things of Spirit are taught and understood, understand this, that even as I place that standard within you, that you must always rely, always rely, always rely [on] with everything in you, that I am the One. And I am the One, only, who changes you from glory to glory, says the Spirit of Grace.

The enemy and the flesh will take a message like this way and even use it against you and your senses to present yourself by yourself and in your strength, unknowingly, in your best efforts, but know this, that it is not by might nor is it by power, but it is by My strength, says the Spirit of Grace.

You cannot change you by looking at you, not for a moment, not even a glimpse to look back and to see if that part has changed. Know this, that human effort cannot change you nor do I take delight in it but know this: I take delight in the one who gives themselves over to Me, knowing that their total dependency is not upon them attaining to a standard, but upon Me working My grace in them towards that standard of truth, says the Spirit of Grace.