

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2010

Prophecy100728 – Jul 28, 2010 Hold Each Other Up

He said: Tell the people—I almost heard like “warn,” but I don’t think that’s the vernacular, but if it was, it would be in a good, a really positive sense.

Something is out—its outcome—God has it scheduled because we’ve prayed it in, and it’s ready to be birthed. So keep forging forward. Stay real encouraged and take no permission or give no permission to discouragement.

Stay in this place, the place of worship and adoration, as much as possible, and what He has scheduled—He’s not talking right now about revival—but it’s going to be so good. It’s going to encourage you towards the end.

So, Father, I bless them and release whatever this is out of Heaven that You have for us to receive and get a hold of.

There is, as it were, so much that you have learned on this line, to stand for yourself and of that place of certainty that no weapon formed against you will prosper as you stay in My Presence, but also learn, learn the double-edged sword. Allow Me to pray through you for the brethren, and hold each other up. Hold each other up in these last days so that I can do everything that I want to do through you for this last outpouring, says the Spirit of Grace.