

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2010

Prophecy100908 – Sep 8, 2010 Yield to My Fullness

Know this, that the greatest quality of My Church in these last days will to be to take on a yielded spirit, says the Spirit of the Lord. For those who are broken and yielded will progress so much faster than even those who take a stand, and at times seem like that they stand in a place where legalistically they are taking a stand out of their strength instead of My strength.

Know this, that to yield to My strength and to My promptings and My love to you is to take a decision and a choice to walk into everything that the Firstborn, the Firstborn, your Commander-in-Chief, the Prototype walked in. For He knew that to relax in Me and to believe for My grace—oh, understand that He walked in the fullness of My grace, and as He led His life and went before you, understand that He continually trusted in that place in the provision of My grace for His life.

Know this, as you yield to Me that even your imperfections become no problem. And know that they will become no problem to you, as in distractions, for I provide in My grace an ability to take you to that place and set you down in the fullness of My love, says the Spirit of Grace.