Prophecy110508b – May 8, 2011 You Have Never Failed God [Mother's Day]

For you have, says the Spirit of Grace, now He's speaking directly to these—you have more to do than what you realize. Know this, that in the mundane days of your life, everyone that you touch, not just yours that have come forth but all the little ones that you will rear up in the Spirit and every touch in the natural out there in the world even when my Name is not mentioned, but you touch them with My love, know this, that you're preparing people and little ones for eternity, says the Spirit of Grace.

Know this, that in the corridors of Heaven, in times to come, you'll see these places that are prophesied to you now, but a very special place has been prepared in My Father. For did I not say that I go away to prepare for you a dwelling place? And that place is in my Father, and know this, that there will be heralded throughout the ages that very special place for mothers and for women who gave themselves over to that call, to be able to share their lives with someone else to bring forth those in eternity. So rejoice.

He said this: Do not relish in any of the mistakes of the past or anything that the accuser could come to you and tell you that you were less than the example of a mother then. Know this, that My blood has forever sanctified you and set you free, says the Spirit of Grace, Therefore I say unto you: According to My record, you have never failed God.
