

Prophecies – The Family Prayer Center – 2011

Prophecy110529b – May 29, 2011 Your Strength Is in My Spirit

He said too many times people reason with Him. Take a lesson how I handled it: I spoke the Word and walked away.

[Your adversary,] he'll come again many times with another thought to add to what you just contested, but know this, your strength is not in reason. Your strength is not in multiplicity of thought. Know this, your peace even as he comes with emotions, your peace rests in a witness that cannot be described by words, says the Spirit of Grace.

Know that you are spiritual beings even as he, your archrival, is a spiritual being. He will not be contested by thought. He will not be contested by your application of multiplicity of reasoning's, as in adding up all the reasons why you count yourself in victory. Know this, the strength of your victory is in My Spirit, says the Spirit of Grace. And that peace is a witness beyond your mind that all things are held of the Father in perfect order for your life, says the Spirit of Grace.