

Prophecies - The Family Prayer Center - 2012

Prophecy120909 September 9th 2012
Learn a Walk of Waiting on Me

Learn a walk, learn a walk, some say I'm too old, he said learn a walk. But my time is past, he says learn a walk. Learn a walk in me that is not dependent upon natural things saith the Spirit of Grace. Learn a walk in me that turns from the natural into the spirit. Learn a walk in me that quiets the soul and turns from the things, things that are in front of you the things that are apparent. Learn a walk in me that waits, for you'll find that your victory is just beyond, it's just beyond the, the pretenses, its just beyond the mirage, everything that the enemy places in front of you is a lie, but my word is truth. He comes at your senses to invoke them, if you will pause in the spirit and wait my victory is always there saith the Spirit of Grace, My wisdom, my power, my understanding for every situation. Learn a walk of waiting on me. Learn a walk that I am never ever away from you but I'm always ever present in the time of trouble saith the Spirit of Grace. For many things are coming for you've only began to see the beginning. Many of you have fought battles of which the likes you have never fought, not only the ferocity of them but the numerical values, the numbers but know this that the enemies days are shortened saith the Spirit of Grace and those things which have been prophesied by my word and those things which you have agreed to say and to speak in the spirit they will come to pass saith the Spirit of Grace. You will be a part of rescuing the weaker church for much of my church is still asleep much of my church does not see the disparity between what I left and what is now, much of my church is weak for many things beset them and many things cause them to fall but know this that I am raising up a generation that will receive my bridegroom back into the earth. This will be a strong and a proven generation. I am not the one that is invoking the enemy on you, but I am pleased that you forge further, faster, and past these things than you ever have before through my grace. For soon you will be called upon to turn and rescue the weaker church and those who will be stumbling in these last days, groping in the darkness and those who desire truth you will have the opportunity to rescue those. Do not spend your time with those who have heard and have heard and have heard and will not turn to the truth, pray for them I will go back and try to rescue them but do not spend your time. Spend your time looking forward unto me. Receive the grace that I'm asking you. I know the ones that will turn, I know the ones also that will take your time and energy and will never turn but yet I will deal with them to the end for their salvation saith the Spirit of Grace. The revival is upon you thus the increase of attacks but know this that there is no limit to my grace and my grace is sufficient saith the Spirit of Grace. Hallelujah.