

Prophecies - The Family Prayer Center - 2012

Prophecy120912 September 12th 2012
Learn Presence and Learn to Stay

I desire that they would know me in that place of comfort saith the Spirit of Grace. Yielding is something taught, it is in your new nature that capacity to be fathered by me, to yield yourself to me but I desire to comfort you in your infirmities. Rely upon me, Speak often to me as a friend and you'll find that every level I'll build you up on your most holy faith, for there's no fear. It is my desire to fill every moment and every space of your day with presence. Learn presence and learn to stay. It does not matter to me if you're in the workforce or you're surrounded by the wicked, in fact I take great pleasure in holding a place for you always. Rely upon my Spirit, for I said you have the unction within you of the anointing of the holy one. But know this that that anointing that is in you is also to be produced in a place where it not only is in you but it's with you and I speak of that place where presence not only envelops you but that you control, you control the situations through my spirit that you're never left to guessing, you're never left to debate, you always know and even in quietness my compass is set inside of you. I teach my church moment by moment, day by day how to overcome. Do not run and be weary, do not walk and faint but rather wait in my presence and be renewed continually saith the Spirit of Grace.