

Prophecies - The Family Prayer Center - 2013

Prophecy130728A July 28th, 2013

A permanent Rest

For I am the Lord that raises up the brokenhearted says the Spirit of Grace. For that which Satan has meant for your destruction if you will allow me I will turn these things for your good, says the Spirit of Grace. Where man has failed you and where man has come short to supply and where man has forsaken you and left you alone as you feel today the rest that I give you is a permanent rest, secure in me, able to go on with hope without fear says the Spirit of Grace. I give you that which you cannot receive of your own; I give you that which you cannot encourage yourself on your own; look unto me; yield and humble yourself unto me. Watch the changes that I can make through the spirit and the instruction that I will give you through the word of God; find that place; yield to me says the Spirit of Grace; begin the process of healing that process by which I minister perfectly to your life, says the Spirit of the Lord.