

Prophecies - The Family Prayer Center - 2013

Prophecy130811A August 11th 2013

Receive Your Refreshing

For I brought you here today for a purpose and those who knew, who need renewal of my love, strength in the midst of the storm, saith the Spirit of Grace. I am your steadiness and I'm your strength and I am your renewal. I am the hope in your life that will not go away, says the spirit of the Lord. There's strength in me to all those who find me; an everlasting peace and assurance as I said earlier in this same service I know the plans that I have for you. Do not think that light? I've given a place; a path in front of you and even part of that was you being here this morning to taste the anointing that could break the yoke. So receive and yield yourself to the power of my spirit, because when all things are said and done it's only me that can help you; it's only me that can help you; no matter what man can try to do for you, it's only me that can help you, says the Spirit of the Lord. Rest in that everlasting assurance; come to this place of anointing; receive, receive your refreshing. Hallelujah.