MY Waves of My Glory will Hit this House

More and more of my waves of my glory will hit this house. More and more waves of glory will shake this house. You'll find in days ahead a life that will come and sweep; the anointing that will come and break every yoke. You've wondered is it worth the fight. You've wondered if it is worth going forward and that place inside of you that will not let you quit; I continue to affirm to you it will be worth it after all. It will be worth it. I tell you; I tell you along with that witness and bear witness prophetically as well as the inward witness cannot lie; I say to you, you will rejoice, you will rejoice in days that seem like without number for the times that are coming and of the harvest and of the great workings of my spirit, saith the Spirit of Grace. Hallelujah.
