Undaunted in His Assignment

The servant of the Lord is blind and deaf to all of his surroundings. He sees only that which I see, saith the Spirit of Grace. Those that are called in this last hour will be blinded to the things of this world. They will become dead to the rhetoric and the things that they hear of the flesh and the things that they hear of those who are not following me to perfection or following me for that perfection to be made real in them. Much will be spoken, but those that are deaf and those that are blind will follow in one path and press for one path as my righteous servant came undaunted in his assignment and received his assignment and would not vary therein. Become blind to the things of this world. Become dead to the call of the flesh. Follow in the footsteps of he who has come before you. Follow in his footsteps until all things are complete and perfect, saith the Spirit of Grace.
