I Desire to Follow You Home

Prophecy180408 April 8th 1018

*I desire to follow you home, saith the Spirit of Grace. I desire to follow you home, saith the Father. For I desire to place in you this day even in this service a refreshing, a renewal more than anything else, a fresh desire for more of me, saith the Spirit of Grace. For in that desire comes washing. In that desire comes a flow of my Spirit that will follow you. When I said I desire to follow you home, I desired this presence to be with you when you leave this house. I desire this presence to follow you into the most mundane of situations. I desire for you to communicate with me as a Son or Daughter with a Father. For in that place, in that place you'll find yourself going from glory to glory to glory. Did I not say that the lamp of the righteous burneth brighter and brighter unto a more perfect day. For I'm desiring the Bride that will receive me back into this earth and make no mistake about it before my coming; the last generation will see the great signs and wonders that the Apostles were accustomed to in their day. Seek not these things but seek a higher place in me, the Spirit of Grace. Come to my face and seek me and all these other things will be added unto you, saith the Spirit of Grace.
Hallelujah!*
