Place Your Ear

For I desire a place of intimacy with you far beyond the place that many of you know and understand; For I'm not all about business and I'm not all about work. The primary reason why I created you and mankind was for fellowship. In this dispensation that you call grace, there is a work to do and there's a revival to be had, Souls to be saved and bodies to be healed. But the first place that I desire in your life is not to know you, that I may perform works through you but that I may know you to conform you to the image of the first born, saith the Spirit of grace for I'll arrest your spirit if you will let me. If you will give me your mornings and at times if you do nothing but wait, in my presence; if you'll do nothing but wait. Don't rush too quickly into the word yet. At times you'll know me prompting you. Don't rush too quickly into this or that or that confession although all those things are of me but I'm asking for you to wait on me at times. And if I say nothing, if I say nothing but just that you sit in my presence and worship very tenderly, quietly listening with your ear at the door post of my heart. Listen, one word from me can elevate your faith can bring forth a key to your deliverance, to your healing, to the manifestation of your miracle. For I am pleased when my children go into my word, extensive times of warship and confession of my word but I'm also pleased and desire place where you sit in my presence very quietly in your place in your home, in your place of intimacy and listen, place your ear, if I say nothing I say everything because my presence is with you. Learn this place of communion, saith the Spirit of grace.
