

Prophecies - The Family Prayer Center - 2019

Prophecy190106

Innate Given Anointing

The alabaster box that was broken over his head, the perfume filled the place, the anointing for his body for that which was to come. That which wants to come has come, saith the Spirit of Grace and now in him and through him my anointing rest upon all of you who know him for have I not said that my anointing brakes the yoke, saith the Spirit of Grace? From the beginning when you were born again what was purchased for you and given to you was in innately given anointing that breaks the yoke. My spirit will come and my spirit will lift you up for is it not written that I am a comforter? Is it not written that I am a go-between? But know this that I only come and anoint that which is already anointed, saith the Spirit of Grace. Do not wait but enter in to faith now. Know that that which is inside of you has everything that I gave you to live victoriously spirit, soul and body. Lift up holy hands without wrath, without doubting. Enjoy the benefits of the provision that has been given. Let this anointing both in you and on you, flow through you, saith the Spirit of Grace.