Divide Yourself and Take off the Mask

Prophecy220529b – May 29, 2022

Can a well spring forth both bitter and sweet? says the Spirit of the Lord. Can figs produce olives, or a vine figs? I say unto you, no, says the Spirit of the Lord. For that which many of you take up as a sweet water well has within it those things that will destroy. But I'm asking you to divide yourself and take off the mask, says the Spirit of the Lord.

For those who have willing ears to hear, these are words of life. For those who'll make excuses and become offended at these things are those who will not judge themselves, and yet I still love them and cherish them as all. But those who will come in and say, "I believe you, Lord, that you're asking us to safeguard ourselves against where others have failed," these will be those who'll take up arms with Me. And as I said in the previous Blueprint Prophecies, that they will be those who, after purging themselves from all distractions, will come into loving prayer time more than they love anything else in this life, says the Spirit of the Lord.
