I Can Change Your World if You Let Me Into It

Prophecy231022 – October 22, 2023

You're not alone in this, says the Spirit of the Lord. You're not alone in this, whether it be to you as an individual or those surrounded by family and friends. Yet, your individuality means more to Me than all the universe combined. And the things in your heart, the secret places that are desiring a place that you know exists but you cannot describe it. And I have been coming to you not only in this service but in the days of recent. I've been coming to all who hear My voice now, soliciting from you a place, a place where I can come and join Myself to you with authority to birth this in the earth.

And while I'm doing this, I'm examining and saying to you as an individual woman and as an individual man, the struggle, the fight, even the loneliness at times, even when you're surrounded by those who love you the most, no one can reach into your world except Me, says the Spirit of the Lord. But I'm in there. I'm inside your world. As surely as your thoughts are formulated, I'm before your thoughts. I anticipate them before they're ever created. And I'm going before you in places inside of you that do not know how to rectify, to change the situation, the circumstances, or even go to the next level to fulfill, "What is my call?" "What is my call?" some would say. Am I this? Am I that? Am I the other? But I say unto you, out of this place of intimacy, that I'm anticipating that the multitude of your thoughts are established in Me.

For many seek to be a better father, a better husband, a better wife, a better individual. But I say unto you, don't seek better, seek the best, which is just a place in which I will lavish on you in a room. Come into this room. Come into this room. This room can only be occupied by the two of us. But out of this room, as I said, you'll go in and out, you'll find pastures. But out of this room, you'll go out and your countenance will change, your security will change. And even those that are not what would seem insecure will go to another place. How would you know another place until you've been there and tasted? How would you know another room exists of presence and peace until you've tasted? These times are for your introduction into these places.

Many of you will spearhead this. You'll go far enough into this room and garner the jewels, the gems of presence and peace. [You will] come out not only to display them, but give them away to those who are fellow comrades and Christians. You'll take them into another place. And to the sinner and to those that are in the world, even without words, the presence that you'll garner and pull out of this place will be unto them what they cannot find in places of the world.

There are fathers and mothers, family members represented by those that are seated here and those that are listening. They need the Lord. They can't perish where they're at. They can't perish. Judgment's too long, Hell's too long. The earth is waiting on us, sons and daughters of God...
