

Prophecy – The Family Prayer Center

Distractions, Burnt Fields, and Dry Bones

Prophecy231203c – December 3, 2023

For the fear that I'll silence in your life is every distraction sent by the enemy in these last days to detour the army from becoming everything that I've called you to be, says the Spirit of the Lord. But refuse the distraction. Refuse it from its onset. Stand fast in that which I've declared you to be, looking unto Me, the author and the finisher of your salvation, says the Spirit of Grace. For in this hour, there'll continue to be, as there has been, a great separation from those going in and those standing apart, aloof from the rest of the Body. But do not despair, because the further you go, the more of an asset you'll be in the days ahead for those who stand in the perimeters of this outpouring.

For the hour will come in which the anointing that brings in the Harvest will also return many from scattered places. For I desire that the burnt over fields that religion caused separation and distractions and the disorientation of the truth [be redeemed]. Many were separated because of the weakness they saw. They themselves could not continue. And because man would not teach this truth that you're learning now, many became offended in the burnt over fields of religion. But know this, that I say unto you as I said unto the prophet, these dry bones will live, says the Spirit of Grace.

For I'll send a great wind of My Spirit in these last days. And I'll breathe on that which is dry and that which seems to be dead, and marrow will come to the bones and sinew to the flesh, to the bones in the spirit. And every joint will be fashioned to another, in which I'll breathe the breath of life and cause that which was once separated and burnt over through a loss of that which a dream and a vision seemed to be taken from them. That they'll once again be reunited in My Spirit. For I'm calling you to go in, to go into a place where this outpouring is of truth. A now, living reality. And in that, not only the Harvest, but those that were originally meant to be part of the Harvest, that I'll breathe upon them. And they will hear a sound as of a rushing mighty wind once again, and be renewed by My Spirit, says the Spirit of Grace.

But for you, your assignment in this hour is to lay down every distraction and go in to birth this final push in the spirit, says the Spirit of Grace.