You're My Pleasure and Their Answer

Prophecy240519 – May 19, 2024

When you hear these exhortations on coming apart, I'm soliciting these things from those who have ears to hear – you're close enough to come in. And I recognize your love for Me and I reciprocate to you these words, that I'm already pleased with your love. You're My son, you're My daughter, and I'm getting over to you everything that I possibly can at this point through My pleasure. But know this, that I'm inviting you to a place that few have ever been able to enjoy, not only a place of intimacy, a place of provision in My spirit where I come and catch you up and change you into a new man and to a new woman.

The world is looking for answers. You'll have those answers! You'll be the ones that people will gravitate to and ask the question, "What must I do to be saved?" You're the answer, as My Son was the answer. Now you through His grace, this amazing grace, you'll find you're their answers for the hour.

So, come apart. Build the altar in your heart. When you miss a day or two, don't condemn yourself, but bring forth a pattern of grace in your life. And you'll be like a stream gathered together to create a mighty river in the days ahead that'll be a torrent for this community and for those that are streaming watching. Wherever you're at, rivers are being created.

But He wants you to know He's pleased with where you're at. Take another step. Take one more step. Prove Me, says the Spirit of the Lord.
