The All-Consuming Fire is NOW

Prophecy240731a – July 31, 2024

Exclaim and proclaim the fire of God in your midst, says the Spirit of Grace. For as it was on the day of Pentecost when I baptized them, understand this, the flame that came upon them was not a flicker, but it was an all-consuming fire that absolutely consumed them, says the Spirit of Grace. For this is My desire for My House, and this you will see in these days. Claim it now, expect it now. Now is your visitation, says the Spirit of Grace. That the all-consuming fire would come in your midst and the power of God would rush in as a great and mighty wind, says the Spirit of the Lord. For I desire to do great and mighty things in your midst, and very, very methodically begin to work out all the issues and the finetune-things of your life, says the Spirit of the Lord. I'll bring forth an army that is healed, says the Spirit of the Lord.

It's not My desire nor My vision to have a crippled army. But I say unto you, be encouraged that nothing, nothing that seems to stand in your way today is scheduled to stay. But on this path, if you continue to walk, all these things will not only diminish, they will be completely, completely destroyed and taken out of your life. I see My army standing without infirmity. I see My army standing without fear. I see My army standing without the grips of fear or anxiety in their life, says the Spirit of the Lord. Stand up strong. Proclaim in these hours and in these days against everything that the enemy is pushing to throw in your way and divert you from staying on the path and the laser focus of spiritual things, says the Spirit of Grace.

Know this and see this vision, that an all-consuming fire is scheduled for this place and every place like it that claims, "The fire has come," says the Spirit of God. Stand up! Stand up! Stand up in the spirit and proclaim, "The fire of God is come, and the glory is come, and an all-consuming fire is come," says the Spirit of the Lord. This is your inheritance. This is the place of consumption of all the things that have come to try you, says the Spirit of Grace. Stand in this place. Stand in this place and absolutely proclaim. This is yours for now and forever, says the Spirit of Grace.
