

Prophecy – The Family Prayer Center

Resist, for the Hour Is at Hand

Prophecy250223a – February 23, 2025

Reach out. Reach past your place of confinement, says the Spirit of Grace. For he'll confine you, even with your desire to move on. Move in My Spirit. For it's not the position or the posture of the body, or even the volume of the voice, but it's your place inside of you. It's that kingdom that is a kingdom of resistance against the oppression and against the lie. But if you'll move out of that place and resist the devil from out of that place, he'll flee from you. Your body will increase in strength and in life, and the glory which I promised you you'll see manifested, says the Spirit of the Lord.

For these things are not about to come. For I prophesied these things unto you in days gone by that these things are about to come, and surely of truth, because I said it by My Spirit. But I say unto you, they are among you. They are among you now. This is the hour. That which was at hand is now in hand, says the Spirit of Grace.

Manifestations, manifestations, and manifestations. You'll not record them. You'll not be able to keep track of them all in your mind or in a registry, because like in the book of Acts, these things are among you, says the Spirit of Grace. This is the hour. This is the day. This is the "kairos" – the season.