

Prophecy – The Family Prayer Center

I Bring You into a New Way

Prophecy251019 – October 19, 2025

With great power and demonstration of My glory am I coming, says the Spirit of the Lord. Increase, increase, increase, increase. Do not look around or try to touch the familiar and say, “I want to find a place that looks like it used to be.” For all things are changing, says the Spirit of the Lord, for the better. Do not resist the better, but come into it, says the Spirit of the Lord. Embrace Me, for many things will fall off and many things will be put on.

I bring you into a new way, a living way, one fought for for many decades [with] the blood of those who have been martyrs for this and brought up these things even from the first church. For in the end, I prophesied of the culmination of all the ages, the synergy of all of the ages coming together to bring Me back. Know this, that you as this Church, you’ll see in these days things of the former and things of the latter, and these two coming together will bring forth greater than all the world has ever seen, says the Spirit of the Lord.

The Antichrist will have to rise up and try to bring forth a standard against it because it’ll begin to win the lost across the globe by the millions. Billions will come into this. He’ll have to rise up in his last effort to harvest the earth, but I’ll overtake him in the end, says the Spirit of Grace. You’re in these days. Lean into these days. Come into these days, says the Spirit of Grace.