Humble Yourself & I Will Walk This With You

Prophecy251123 – November 23, 2025

I am the Great Helper, says the Spirit of Grace. Abandon yourself on Me and bring all things. Say, “I cannot of myself.” Throw yourself at My mercies and My graces, for they’re never ending. They’ll see you through, says the Spirit of Grace. For I’ve not come to accuse you, but to heal you. Find My mercies, find My grace, says the Spirit of Grace. For all who come before Me find My mercies.

I’m ever at the door of your heart. Do not turn Me away, but embrace Me as a friend, embrace Me. But I’m closer [than a friend]. Mother and father may forsake you, best friends, all acquaintances, but I’ll never leave you, I’ll never forsake you. I’m as close as the breath that you breathe. Know this, that I’m before your thoughts and I’m in your thoughts. In the multitude of your thoughts within you, My comforts delight your soul, says the Spirit of Grace. My peace have I provided for you. So, come unto Me. Come unto Me.

The first step out of all things is to humble yourself. Humble yourself. Say within your heart, even with your lips, “I surrender.” For surrender and yieldedness is the spirit of holiness, that I can come and reshape you. I am the Potter – become the clay. Do not be stiff-necked. Don’t be stiff. Yield your vessel a living vessel. Let My hands come and begin to mold you. Say yes to Me, and I’ll go a thousand times more, a thousand steps further than one step that you take. I’ll take the next thousand steps to ensure your future, says the Spirit of Grace.

Let Me pour My oil and My wine into your brokenness, for I am the Good Samaritan. I will pour My oil, My wine into your life. I’ll resurrect you, I’ll heal you, I’ll recalibrate you, I’ll strengthen you. I’ll fill you with peace, says the Spirit of Grace. Now’s the time. Now’s the day. Don’t say in your heart, “In six months, three months, two months...” Speak now. Yield now, says the Spirit of Grace.
